EIGHTEEN PAGES—THREE CENTS

WOULD OPEN WPA PAYROLLS TO NEWSPAPERS

Landon Asserts New Deal Censoring News Sources

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 6.—(AP)—A demand that Works Progress Administration payrolls be opened to newspaper inspection was linked by Gov. Alf M. Landon at a press conference today to an assertion that the New Deal was censoring news sources.

"Censorship of the source of news is just as bad as censorship of news," the Republican presidential candidate said. "That is what we have now—censorship of the source of news."

The nominee was talking in a press conference where he also reaffirmed his support of the St. Lawrence seaway project. Landon was asked by reporters to comment on a statement by Harry L. Hopkins that WPA records were open "to anybody who has a legitimate reason to see them." The WPA administrator, in turn, was replying to a demand by John G. Stutz, Kansas relief director, for figures on state WPA administrative costs.

"Harry L. Hopkins has shut off the source of news," Landon said as he laid down the pen with which he had been signing mail. "I think WPA records are public business and the information should be made available to any newspaper."

"I view newspaper publicity as a legitimate purpose. All public records, of any kind or description, should be open to the newspapers."

"Does that hold during election years?" he was asked.

"It doesn't make any difference whether or not it should be during a campaign," the governor replied.

Landon was asked to what he attributed the cause of what he described as "censorship."

"As I've already said," he replied, "they're afraid of the waste and extravagance that publicity would reveal."

The nominee made special comment on Hopkins' reference to Stutz' demand as "another of those red herrings" intended to "divert the attention of people from his own situation." President Roosevelt recently said that Communism, as a campaign issue, was a "red herring."

"I see he's also discovered another red herring," Landon said of Hopkins. "The administration seems to be finding a lot of red herrings. It's gone fishing. It's too bad we can't eat them."

Hopkins in his statement issued last night, had said "the state of Kansas has never been willing to pay anything toward the aid of the unemployed," Landon was asked to comment.

"It is the old charge," he said, "Hopkins insists on ignoring that by his own figures—I'm not sure how recent they were—Kansas ranked 16th among the states."

Landon spent the afternoon at home, dividing his time between hearing the final world series game and working on speeches for his next campaign trip. Among advisers close at hand were Professor Olin Glenn Saxton and Ralph West Robey.

Japanese Demand Independence For Five Provinces

Special Zone Is Located Between China and Manchoukuo

Nanking, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A Japanese demand for virtual independence of five North China provinces as a "special zone" between China and Manchoukuo was revealed by the Japanese embassy here tonight.

The Japanese spokesman said Japan did not particularly want a protectorate over the proposed area, but stated the Tokyo government felt there must be a "cushion" of some sort between Manchoukuo and China.

Both sides in the tangled dispute over Sino-Japanese affairs, growing out of Japanese claims of alleged anti-Japanese "terrorism" in China, admitted tonight the situation was precarious.

"Anything can happen," it was said, as Dictator Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and Ambassador Shigeru Kawagoe, of Japan, prepared to meet in a series of conferences to alleviate the growing crisis.

Talk in both Japanese and Chinese official circles indicated the affairs of the two nations were rapidly approaching a climax.

Chinese circles were emphatic in the opinion that any Japanese pressure, at present would "without doubt be met by military resistance."

Military commentators said China was prepared to sustain a military campaign "only six months," but maintained that the nation was ready to stake everything on the present crisis.

Talk of hostilities was in the air more than at any time previous.

MADRID WILL BE SCENE OF REAL BATTLE

Government Prepares To Fight Fascists In Streets

Madrid, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The government tonight prepared to fight insurgent Fascists in the streets of Madrid.

Volunteer workmen feverishly dug trenches across the city's thoroughfares and built pill boxes at street intersections.

Cement workers laid concrete artillery emplacements in the city's squares, while civilians spun the city with barbed wire barricades.

Despite these obvious indications that the government did not think it impossible for the insurgent attackers to fight through the city's gates, the war ministry proclaimed its daily list of victories and declared insurgent lines had been repulsed on almost all Madrid sectors.

A strong column of insurgents flanked the government positions in the Santa Cruz Del Detamar along the Maqueda-Madrid highway, the government admitted, but declared that an attack from that sector had been repulsed with heavy Fascist losses.

Another insurgent advance was beaten back near Guadix, 35 miles north-northeast of Granada, the war ministry announced.

Under cover of a heavy aerial barrage the Fascists attacked government positions in Bujaraloz, in the Aragon sector, but gained little ground, it was said.

Military leaders reported some 40 Fascists were killed in the Bujaraloz engagement.

Government artillery batteries pounded away at enemy encampments in the Guadarrama hills sector near Madrid and destroyed two emplacements, it was announced.

Unofficial sources said the Fascists again bombed communication lines at Valencia, but had been unable to hit the railroad line into Madrid.

General Jose Asensio, the war ministry announced, was greatly satisfied with the increased discipline of his men since the "do or die" orders of some days ago.

Lightning Hits Football Team: 1 Dead; 11 Hurt

Bolt Strikes As Players Are Lining Up For Scrimmage

Canton, O., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Lightning crashed into a group of Lehman high school football players at practice late today, killing the team's co-captain and injuring 11 others, including two coaches.

Don Correll, 12-year-old tackle, was killed, Coach Jimmy Robinson was in serious condition with his left leg paralyzed.

In the hospital suffering from burns and shock were: William Miller, 18, withdrawn its support, and Bjorkvall center; John Kline, 17, left tackle; William Atkinson, 15, substitute right guard.

The remainder of those injured, including Assistant Coach Wilbur Billings, were rushed to the hospital for treatment but later released.

The players had been practicing under threatening skies. Two teams were engaged in scrimmage on the school's practice field. It started to rain but there had been no lightning.

The coach called the boys into a huddle. He called for "just a couple more plays," the team lined up.

Then the flash crashed into the group. Players flew in all directions. Wallace Ferrell, an eye witness, said "there was a blinding flash of light and members of the team fell to the ground. Those who were able, put the injured in cars and took them to the hospital."

Members of the squad, knocked down by the shock, said they did not know what had happened.

WANTS NEW TRIAL

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Clem W. Huggins, attorney, filed a motion in federal district court today for a new trial for Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., who is serving a life term at Leavenworth penitentiary for the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

Huggins demanded a new trial on the grounds that Robinson, Jr., was insane at the time he was sentenced and that he was harassed by federal agents and denied counsel following his capture in Glendale, Calif., last spring.

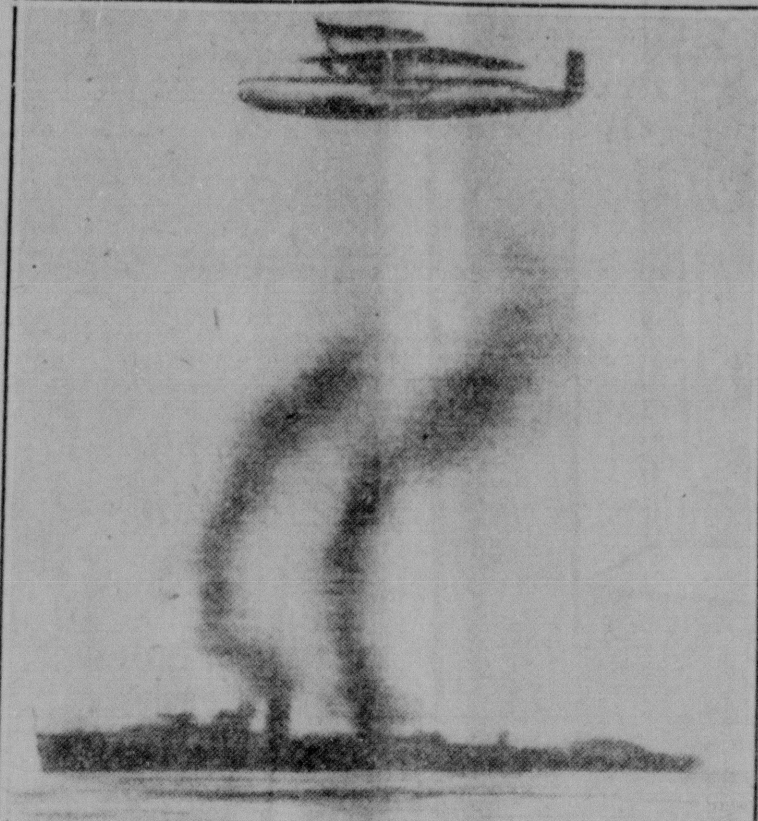

MAN CONVICTED

Flint, Mich., Oct. 6.—(AP)—The first trial of the Black Legion investigation in Genesee county ended today in the conviction of Donald Swindle, 26-year-old factory worker, on a charge of giving perjured testimony during a grand jury hearing.

A circuit court jury of six men and six women deliberated less than an hour to convict Swindle. Circuit Judge William M. Brown sentenced him immediately to serve from one and one half to 15 years in southern Michigan prison.

Roy Alfred was in the city yesterday from Woodson.

Claim Elliott Roosevelt Received Huge Commission In Russian Airplane Deal

Kurt Bjorkvall Swedish Flier On Ocean Trip

Making Non-stop Flight from New York To Stockholm

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Somewhere above the Atlantic the green and red monoplane of Kurt Bjorkvall, Swedish flier, drummed along tonight toward Stockholm on a non-stop flight attempt.

Late in the day there had been no report of his position. The ship, The Pacemaker, carried only a radio receiver.

As the 31-year-old Bjorkvall thundered along in a solitary search for glory, a dashing blond passenger who unexpectedly didn't get to go with him sat secluded in a club near New York, not wanting, said an attendant, to talk to anyone.

She was the Baroness Eva Von Blixen Fieene, who has motored alone in Africa and shot lions in its jungles. It had been announced all along that she would share the controls with Bjorkvall, but she went to the air field today to be turned aside by the flier with an eloquent "no," spoken twice.

Precisely why, none learned, except it was said the Swedish newspaper which had been lacking the flight had withdrawn its support, and Bjorkvall had bought the plane to make the trip on his own. There were reports of Swedish criticism of allowing the baroness to make such a hazardous attempt this late in the season.

The flier had made quiet preparations, and his scheduled passenger said she hadn't learned he planned to take off today until, before dawn, a friend told her. She hurried to the field, carrying a quart of coffee and dressed for air travel, but Bjorkvall would say only that he was sorry, but he couldn't take her.

A picture of melancholy, she retired to the club and closed the book on the flight, except to say she might attempt one alone later. "I can say no hard words," she remarked, "but I'm terribly sorry."

The deposition stopped payment of the check, the deposition returned when it was neither cashed nor returned.

The agreement with Elliott Roosevelt was dated February 28, 1934, the affidavit said, and "covered the expected sale of 50 military airplanes of Lockheed make to Russia at an expected price to allow a commission of $500,000 to himself (Fokker) and $500,000 to Elliott Roosevelt."

Fokker was quoted as saying he had entered the agreement with Elliott Roosevelt after discovering he could not procure an exclusive sales agency for Russia from the Douglas Aircraft Company "because it had been given to Mr. Elliott Roosevelt and certain partners in business with him."

Questioned concerning the reason for making the deposition public at this time, committee officials said Chairman Nye had ordered its release as a result of published charges the committee was withholding information from the public.

GIVES APPROVAL

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—James J. Upington, personal representative of Father Charles E. Coughlin in the State of Illinois, said today the Detroit Radio Priest had "given his approval" to the candidacy of Newton Jenkins of Chicago for U. S. Senator on the Union progressive party ticket.

McMullen, found floundering in shallow water near the bank, said he remembered nothing since Sunday night when he said he was robbed by a man and a woman in St. Louis.

RESCUED FROM RIVER

Granite City, Ill., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Irwin McMullen, New Douglas, Ill., postmaster, was rescued from the Mississippi river early today and taken to a hospital here to recover from exposure.

McMullen, found floundering in shallow water near the bank, said he remembered nothing since Sunday night when he said he was robbed by a man and a woman in St. Louis.

3,000 PERSONS 'EXECUTED' IN MADRID, SPAIN

"Executioners" Work Secretly Refugees Report

Hendaye, France, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Bands of amateur "executioners" have killed secretly some 3,000 persons in Madrid, reliable sources brought by refugees from the Spanish capital reported tonight.

The executions, they said, were not done with the knowledge or consent of the constituted Madrid government but were summary executions of those suspected of sedition or fascist sympathies.

Advices they brought indicated part of the executions were the result of secret sentences of the "Cheka," or people's tribunal, while others were the spontaneous work of anarchist and syndicalist gunmen.

One day in September, the refugees said, 22 persons were shot to death and left where they fell by the free lance executioners.

On a quiet day, they said, only 15 riddled corpses were heaped on the outskirts of Madrid.

The Cheka has little trouble in concealing its true activities from the Madrid police, the refugees related, adding many persons have been executed despite official efforts to save their lives and Cheka assurances no harm would befall them.

Executions have increased since Francisco Largo Caballero became premier Sept. 4, the refugees asserted.

They said the explanation might be found in new friction over political concessions between the government on the one hand and the syndicalist national confederation of labor with its satellite, the federation of Iberian anarchists, on the other.

A day never passes, the refugees reported, without a fresh crop of corpses riddled "with a savage cruelty."

At Cuatro Caminos and on the slopes of San Isidro Hill, they said, women make daily pilgrimages to see if their missing menfolk are among the cadavers left by the executioners.

Police in efforts to identify the dead, compiled a booklet containing photographs of 250 bodies unidentified during the four weeks from Aug. 14. There were also pictures of 32 unidentified women photographed where their bodies had fallen.

James A. Reed Issues Warning To U. S. Labor

Sees Danger in Government Regulation of Wages and Hours

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 6.—(AP)—James A. Reed, former Democratic senator from Missouri, tonight warned labor that "the power to regulate wages up or hours of labor down is the power to regulate wages down" or inaugurate longer hours.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting sponsored by the National Jeffersonian Democrats in Dickinson High School, Reed repeated his recent attack on President Roosevelt for what he termed the Rooseveltian "trade against economic royalists."

"Among the false theories being put forth is the claim that hours and wages of labor should be regulated by the government," Reed declared.

"Against that false doctrine I warn every man who works for a wage, whether by hand or brain. I warn all such that if government is granted power to regulate hours of labor it thereby gains power to prohibit the laborer from exercising his natural right to work longer if he so desires."

"For when an employer is forbidden to give work for more than a given number of hours."

"I warn labor that the power to regulate wages up or hours of labor down is the power to regulate wages down or to compel labor for a greater number of hours."

Asserting that power of regulation could be used "to compel obedience to government dictation," the gray-haired Missouri political veteran said that such a condition "exists now in Russia, Italy and in Germany."

Asserting that the American "economic system" offered all men an equal opportunity for success, Reed cited Henry Ford and other leaders in the automobile industry as workmen who rose to the top.

Several Hundred Lepers Escape From Hospital

Visit Presidential Palace and Protest Against Being Prisoners

Manila, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Several hundred lepers broke out of San Lazaro hospital today, marched through Manila streets to the presidential palace and protested against being held as "prisoners."

The others went on to the grounds of Malacanang Palace, residence of President Manuel Quezon.

Palace officials, not knowing the intent of the marchers, summoned extra guards, Jose Vargas, presidential secretary, met the lepers in front of the palace.

They presented a memorial asserting they were being held as prisoners while persons suffering from tuberculosis were allowed to run loose. They contended tuberculosis was more dangerous to the public than leprosy.

The lepers had been granted a parade permit yesterday but it was rescinded at the last minute.

Biding their time, they overpowered a hospital guard early this morning, surged over the institution's walls and headed for the palace.

Vargas promised to present their views to Quezon and they were herded back to the hospital by police.

The cry of the leper against rigid confinement is an old one to the Philippines.

2 Former Federal Officers Given Jail Sentences

Two Peoria Women Also Sent to Jail and Fined $50

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Two former federal officers and two Peoria women were sentenced to twenty days in jail and fined $50 each today by U. S. Judge J. Earl Major for contempt of court in connection with the Wainer Brothers liquor conspiracy trial which ended here recently.

A. T. Carey, deputy U. S. marshal, and Edward G. Young, former court bailiff, both of Springfield, were released without bond after being sentenced, but were instructed to appear at Springfield, Oct. 12 to begin their sentences in the city jail there. Both resigned after the contempt charges were made.

The two women, Patsy O'Brien and Bee Lane, gave notice through their attorney that they would appeal. Bond was set at $1,000. Unable to post their bonds, they were lodged in the Peoria county jail.

The case of Henry Triebel of Peoria, a member of the jury which tried the Wainers, was continued.

Contempt citations for the four convicted persons and Triebel were issued by Judge Major after charges were made by attorneys for the defense that the conduct of the federal officers and others made a fair trial impossible. Judge Major refused to order a new trial on the basis of the allegations.

Defense attorneys said in affidavits that jurors were permitted to dine with their wives during the five weeks trial, that the deputy marshal mentioned the defendants' "evidence of guilt" within the jurors' hearing, and that empty whiskey bottles were found in hotel rooms occupied by the jurors.

"That such things as these that have been related could happen in a jury room seems inconceivable," Judge Major said today, commenting from the bench. "I believe it's probably the first time such irregularities have been discovered since our present system of courts was introduced."

Eleven defendants were convicted and two were acquitted in the Wainer conspiracy case.

WILL HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR MRS. J. G. AMES HERE OCT. 11

A brief memorial ceremony in honor of the late Mrs. J. G. Ames who died at the St. Mary's hospital in Chicago, Illinois, on August 25 will be given at four o'clock Sunday, October 10, at the Episcopal church in this city. Dr. Patterson will read a service which Mr. and Mrs. Ames wrote several years ago to be read on such an occasion. It is hoped that a part of the service written by Mrs. McClintock who was a very intimate friend of Mrs. Ames and a former member of the Illinois College faculty, will be received in time for the ceremony on Sunday.

A short burial service, conducted by Dr. Andrew Rule, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Ames, was held at Old Mission, Michigan.

SCHOOLMATES WED

The groom, a relative of the bride's first husband, and Mrs. Martin were school mates.

LOWDEN PRAISES FARM POLICIES OF ALF LANDON

Former Governor Is Interrupted By Applause

Waterloo, Ia., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, praised the farm policies of Gov. Alf M. Landon before a farm belt audience here tonight.

Introduced by C. A. Benson of Eldorado, Republican candidate for Iowa secretary of agriculture, as a man "born and raised in the state of Iowa and fully conversant with the Iowa farm problem," Lowden talked at the Waterloo Dairy congress hippodrome.

William Benson, building superintendent, estimated the audience in the building which he said will seat 8,500, as about 4,200.

The white-haired former governor held his prepared address in his hands as he faced the microphone.

Applause from the audience interrupted the former governor frequently as he mentioned the name of the Republican presidential nominee, assailed the administration's method of handling relief, and described the "supreme issue" in the campaign as "maintenance" in substance as well as in form the American scheme of government.

Lowden said American recovery has "lagged behind" because the Democratic administration "has delivered repeated blows at reviving confidence in the future."

He raised his voice when he spoke of the New Deal in tones of condemnation and when he quoted what he said were the "words of President Roosevelt" to stress his points.

At one point Lowden turned to others on the platform and asked: "Am I getting along all right?"

He nodded toward the copy of the address which he held in his hands and remarked "I've been so used to wandering over the state of Iowa that it's hard to be held in a yoke like this."

Our Role as Host

Jacksonville this week and next is entertaining conventions of four organizations whose programs and purposes vary widely. The national convention of the Anti-Thief association closed yesterday; the state convention of the same group opens today. The Springfield Baptist association inaugurated a two day program last night. Next week, for four days, rural young people of this section of the state will attend sessions at Illinois College. It will thus be seen that this city receives strong consideration from organizations when the time comes to select a meeting place for district, state or national gatherings.

Jacksonville has had its share of conventions in past years, and wants more. This community takes pleasure in assuming the role of host to gatherings such as are in progress this week.

This city has numerous advantages as a convention city, which should be held forth at all times to groups which hold annual meetings. It is centrally located both in the state and nation; its hotel accommodations are adequate to care for the needs of several hundred; it has auditoriums available at all times of the year; there are attractions here that provide interesting tours for visitors. Jacksonville, too, is the "right size" for successful conventions. Delegates are not required to scatter over a several mile area, and neither do they find their quarters cramped. The business district is compact, eliminating time and tire-some trips should delegates wish to visit the shops.

Probably more important than all these advantages is the spirit of friendliness that the community extends to visiting delegates. Jacksonville is not too big to be friendly. A convention here means personal contacts, new friendships, a warmth of fellowship that is not to be found at metropolitan conventions.

There are no convention "failures" in Jacksonville. Business men and civic leaders get behind each gathering and give it their personal attention. This, no doubt, contributes to the success of conventions held in this city.

Officers and members of organizations casting about for a place to assemble are asked to keep this city in mind. A few inquiries will convince them Jacksonville can play host, and do it well.

Watch the Wet Leaves

Secretary of State Hughes pointed out in a safety bulletin issued this week that motor vehicle accidents will reach a seasonal high this fall, unless motorists exercise extreme caution. The fall of the year with its autumnal rains, fogs and wind-blown leaves, presents an added danger to driving, Mr. Hughes said.

This community has witnessed several bad accidents for which wet leaves on the pavement were blamed. They furnish as treacherous surface as mud, and are probably more dangerous because patches of leaves are found at intervals, when the driver is not expecting them.

"Wet pavements cause leaves blown upon them to adhere to the road surface where they are ground into a pulp by the traffic," the Secretary of State said. "These places on the pavement constitute a real danger to motorists. Sudden application of brakes may cause one's car to skid and leave the concrete."

Mr. Hughes' warning is good advice, a common-sense reminder that all drivers should bear in mind. Modern traffic is hazardous at any time, but the fall and winter bring natural conditions all drivers should recognize and take into consideration.

America's Big Job

At the same time the social security program is being debated in the national campaign, plans are going ahead in Washington to start shortly after the election to carry on the unprecedented task of registering 26 million wage earners under the old age insurance section of the security act. The post office department thought it had a big job a few months ago in contacting close to two million veterans for the payment of the ex-service men's bonus, but that task will pale into insignificance compared to the one that's coming up now. This job is larger even than the registration of eligibles for the World War draft in 1917.

Between Nov. 15 and Jan. 1, every person employed in industry or commerce, about half the nation's employables, must be reached for delivery to him or her the questionnaire which he must fill out for filing at Washington. The form of these blanks is not yet fully agreed upon, but the social security board is said to be trying to simplify the questions for the better understanding of the average person to whom the blank must be delivered. One thing is known—as a safeguard against duplication of names, each applicant must give the names of his parents.

Having completed the task of delivering 26 million application blanks, the post office department must go over the same ground and collect them for return to Washington.

In Washington, every name on an application blank will be given a number, another device to avoid confusion between many men by the name of Bill Smith or John Brown. The postmen will next deliver to the 26 million registered individuals small cards containing the numbers in Washington. It will be up to each individual to preserve this card with the number for the rest of his life, unless future amendment of the law makes this unnecessary. Tax collections from workers and any future benefits depend on the numbers.

Once started, the system of registration of workers is continuous and perpetual, for every day new persons enter the ranks of employables. The post office department will step out of the picture when the first task is completed, and some other system must be devised for the future.

Seven hundred and fifty persons are now employed by the federal social security board in Washington. A forecast of the gigantic job which is ahead makes it easily credible that the board will eventually become the largest of any of the governmental bureaus.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

Vito Marcantonio, Firebrand of House, Fighting Bitter Battle for Re-Election . . . European and Puerto Rican Situations Play Big Part in His Campaign . . . Backed by Liberal Democrats.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

New York.—Political struggles of two European nations and an island in the Caribbean figure in the re-election of Congressman Vito Marcantonio in New York's Twentieth district. Not to mention Tammany Hall as a factor.

One of the most, if not the most, radical members of Congress, Marcantonio faces a hard fight. He is the man who last winter forced a partial investigation of the silicosis mass tragedy in West Virginia, which caused considerable horror around the country for awhile. Early this year he was arrested for trying to lead a parade of relief soldier bonus recipients from being barred from relief rolls, for conscription of war profits and strict neutrality legislation, for the holding company bill, for "soak the rich" taxation, and for civil liberties.

In Washington he has fought to prevent soldier bonus recipients from being barred from relief rolls, for conscription of war profits and strict neutrality legislation, for the holding company bill, for "soak the rich" taxation, and for civil liberties.

Large populations of Italian-Americans and Spanish-Americans reside in the tough Harlem district which this vigorous 33-year-old fighter represents. Which means that both the Fascist and anti-Fascist battle and the Spanish revolution are being fought, in a small way, in Marcantonio's balliwick.

Marcantonio is against the Fascists both times and they're against him and it is all very bitter. Marcantonio is the Republican nominee.

Opposed by Tammanyite

His Democratic opponent is James J. Lanzetta, Tammany candidate and admirer of Mussolini. But several prominent liberal Democrats are out for Marcantonio—including his friend Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, who will make a speech for him—whereas conservative Republicans in many cases support Lanzetta.

An even stronger reminder of European political alignments, in this district where candidates usually travel with bodyguards, is the fact that Marcantonio is not only the candidate of the Republicans and the All People's Party, but also of the People's Front—all three parties appearing on the ballot.

Marcantonio is not supporting Roosevelt—or Landon, for that matter—and the administration isn't supporting Marcantonio. But, unlike Roosevelt, he isn't repudiating Communist support and seeks all the radical votes he can get.

A while ago there was a big Fascist celebration in the district and Marcantonio bought tickets for 50 of his busier supporters. He walked in unannounced, and the 50 led off the chorus of "Viva Marcantonio!"

"Mr. Marcantonio," cried the chairman, "why you come here?"

"I come to make a speech!" replied the congressman and so many people yelled "Viva Marcantonio!" that they had to let him make a speech.

He says he gained many votes that night. Anyway, he escaped with his life.

Puerto Rico in Picture

Running on the All People's Party ticket with Marcantonio is Angelo Herndon, a colored Communist sentenced to 30 years on a chain gang for circulating Communist propaganda in violation of an old state anti-sedition law. The slogan is "Keep Herndon out of jail by electing him to the assembly."

The Caribbean comes into the Twentieth district picture by virtue of the fact that there are thousands of resident Puerto Rican voters whose support is sought by Lanzetta and Marcantonio.

Marcantonio recently made a spectacular airplane trip to Puerto Rico to appear as legal counsel for Albino Campos, eccentric agitator for the island's independence, who was charged with sedition.

Subsequently, the congressman charges, big Puerto Rican sugar interests have been putting money into the campaign to defeat him.

Gets LaGuardia's Aid

Marcantonio was campaign manager for Fiorello H. LaGuardia when the latter ran for Congress in 1932, and subsequently won LaGuardia's old seat when "The Little Flower" was elected mayor.

The two have had harsh words since, but LaGuardia is now coming out for his former young friend and will even make a speech for him.

Many of the congressman's good friends think he is too radical, but he is probably the most independent member of the House, as well as one of the most courageous and colorful—while means that he sometimes is one of the most valuable.

Meanwhile, there's no other congressional district in the United States where the clash of foreign "isms" echoes quite so clearly, or the American "melting pot" simmers so noticeably.

Take Steps to Prevent Infection From Animal and Insect Bites

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A dog bite, or the bite of any small animal, should always be investigated promptly to determine whether the animal has hydrophobia or rabies. If there is no question of hydrophobia, the wound is treated like any other ordinary wound.

In the event of a sting, the stinger of the bee, wasp, or yellow jacket should be pulled out if it is visible in the tissues. Then a drop or two of diluted ammonia water may be applied to the wound. Swelling and pain may be alleviated by application of cold compresses.

Most spider bites in the United States are due to the shoe button spider, the "black widow." This spider looks like a black shoe button and is called the "black widow" because the female frequently eats the male. Occasionally, persons who are bitten by this kind of spider suffer a general reaction affecting the whole body and become seriously ill. They should, of course, have immediate medical attention.

The ordinary sting of a centipede or scorpion may be more severe than that of a wasp or bee. In such cases bleeding should be encouraged to wash out any material deposited with the sting or bite.

Tincture of iodine may be applied to prevent infection. Cold compresses will take care of pain and swelling. A physician will usually treat a severe scorpion sting by injecting an anesthetic solution around the bite or sting. In the anesthetic solution he usually includes some adrenalin, which constricts the blood vessels and prevents rapid absorption of the poison.

Bites of fleas and mosquitoes are seldom disturbing unless they become infected. Constant scratching will break the blister, or bleed, and the raw surface may become easily infected.

All sorts of mosquito bite and flea bite lotions have been developed to alleviate the itching or irritation. If these bites are let alone, they usually disappear promptly.

The mosquito bite lotions, sometimes available in solid or stick form, usually contain small amounts of camphor and menthol.

The bite of a bedbug seldom becomes infected. Usually it itches. The itching is relieved by weak ammonia or weak menthol solutions.

The way to keep from being bitten is to avoid the insects. This is impor-

Had Been in Ill Health for Past Two Years When He Retired

Rev. W. M. Hailey, who for 47 years served in the pulpits in Methodist churches, died at his home here, 511 South Diamond street, Tuesday morning. Mr. Hailey was 71 years old at the time of his death. He had been in ill-health since his retirement two years ago.

During his 47 years in the church, he has served pastorates at Batchtown, Berdan, Naples, Mercedia, Barry, Marshall, White Hall, Rushville, Kinderhook, Perry, Camp Point, Mt. Sterling, Ashland and the West Jacksonville circuit.

He served several terms as president of the school board, and as editor of the Record, used his influence to bring about the formation of one of the first Farm Bureaus in Western Illinois.

Born at Washington, Ill., May 15, 1865, Rev. Hailey entered Whipple Academy here, and then obtained his degree from Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington. He entered the ministry in 1887.

Rev. Hailey was a member of the Masonic order and took an active part in the work of the order until illness forced him to remain at home during the past two years.

He was married in 1891, and his widow survives. He also is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Berry, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Ruth Doyle of Trenton, N. Y. Mrs. Doyle is a graduate of the class of 1934 at MacMurray college. New Gas Mains Will Be Put Down Around Square by I. P. & L.

Begin Digging Ditch for New Mains; Resurfacing to Begin in Ten Days

New gas mains and service connections will be installed around the public square by the Illinois Power and Light Corporation to avoid tearing into the new resurfaced pavement to make repairs after the pavement is completed. Workmen began Monday digging the trench into which the new mains will be placed, and it is planned to keep the workmen for the power company far enough in advance of the resurfacing workers that there will be no delay.

Cast iron pipes will replace those now in the ground, according to Illinois Power and Light Corporation officials. An order was placed some time ago for these pipes, but because of the rush of business in iron foundries it was found that it would be impossible to get the pipe for some time. The Power and Light Corporation headquarters, however, have delivered pipe here which was scheduled for use on a similar job in Champaign, because there was a delay in the Champaign job.

City Engineer Kenneth Stapleton said that the Power and Light Corporation will replace the mains and fill the ditch with gravel, according to state specifications. This type of work, the power company also will concrete the top of the ditch all around the square, instead of replacing the brick paving which is being removed.

The McCalm Company, which has the contract for resurfacing the square, also has the contract for concreting the top of the ditch. All of the dirt which will be removed in digging the ditch will be hauled away immediately.

Before the resurfacing operations begin, the McCalm Company has some work to do on the southwest corner of the square. It is expected that actual resurfacing operations will get underway during the next ten days.

The main feeder line for the gas mains comes up North Main street, where the work has begun. The WPA street car tracks removal project workers also are working in the first block off the square on North Main street.

Former Local Man Is Chief Clerk on Grand Coulee Dam

C. B. Funk Handles Book Details of Huge Project; Start Diversion of River

C. B. Funk, formerly of this city, is now chief clerk on the Grand Coulee dam project on the Columbia river in Washington. Mr. Funk has been in the government service about thirty years. He is a brother of Mrs. Ernest Strawn, 834 West Douglas avenue.

In a recent letter to his sister, Mr. Funk stated that the project had received a new appropriation of $20,750,000. A few days ago the government set 5,000 men to work on the most dangerous job in the construction of the huge dam, the diverting of the swift-flowing Columbia river to a new channel to permit building of the mid-stream section of the dam.

This will be done by means of coffer dams built of wooden cribbing and filled with earth. The cribbing is constructed to conform with the river bottom, of which engineers have obtained an accurate picture, though it is many feet under water. The cribs are floated to the correct position and sunk by being filled with earth and rock. They are protected by steel facing on the upstream side.

When the dams are in place, the river will swerve and flow over a foundation section of the dam already built and along a man-made channel. It will resume its course some 800 feet downstream, leaving a dry section of river bed, where foundations of the big dam will be laid. It will require six to eight weeks to divert the river, in itself a remarkable engineering feat, but only a part of the vast project under construction.

It is Mr. Funk's business to handle the infinite book details of this job and to see to the distribution of a huge payroll. He obtained his early education in the Jacksonville schools, and graduated from the high school and Brown's Business college here.

Yankees Beat Giants 13 To 5 And Cop World's Baseball Title

Joe McCarthy's Men Hit 4 Of Terry's Pitchers Hard And Take Final Game Easily

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The New York Yankees blasted their way back to the baseball heights today with a faraway salvo of baseball slams that crushed the last lingering hopes of their inter-city rival, the battle-worn Giants, and tore another whole page out of the record books.

Riddled by the long-range guns of the American league champions, crippled but still fighting up to the very last with all the resources at their command, the Giants finally crumbled under a ninth-inning barrage that produced seven runs and swept the Yankees to a lopsided conquest, 13 to 5, in the sixth and final game of the all-New York battle for the world baseball championship.

As the tumult and the shouting died down for 1936, following as devastating an attack as any world series has ever known, the "Bronx bombers" emerged with a decisive victory, four games to two, in a series that set a flock of new hitting and scoring records, besides scaling fresh heights for attendance and receipts with a return to boom-time baseball prosperity.

The Yankees not only squared accounts with their metropolitan rivals in world series play, with two triumphs for each club in four battles for the game's highest stakes, but registered their fifth championship conquest in eight attempts and their fourth in succession. Following up their sweep of the 1927, 1928, and 1932 battles with the National league, the Yankees now boast a record of 16 games won out of 18 played.

Four pitchers, led by the hard-luck victim of the third game, left Freddy Fitzsimmons, failed to check the tidal wave of Yankee bashes this afternoon. The Giants got off in front and finally forced their southpaw foe, Vernon (Goody) Gomez, to cover in the seventh inning, but it was an uphill battle for them nearly all the way.

The National leaguers simply did not have the power to match their rivals, particularly in the "clutches," and their emergency defense finally came apart in the ninth-inning debacle. The Giants, trailing 3 to 5 after Fitzsimmons had been driven from the box within four innings with a nine-hit five-run assault, lost their big chance to regain command of the ball game in the seventh frame. They came within one run of tying the score when Dick Bartell doubled and Bill Terry belted Gomez for a basehit to center that Joe DiMaggio fumbled for his first misplay of the series.

Gomez gave way to the relief pitching of Johnny Murphy after Hank Leiber sacrificed and Mel Ott walked, but the Giants rushed three pinch-hitters into the crisis without being able even to produce the tying run. Hitting for Gus Mancuso, Sambo Leslie, who had hit safely in his two previous turns as a pinch batsman, fouled weakly to Rolfe. Jimmy Rippe, hitting for Burgess Whitehead, walked to fill the bases but Mark Koenig, running in from the bullpen to hit for Travis Jackson, took a third strike with his bat on his shoulder.

After blowing this big chance, the Giants folded quickly with a lineup revamped in four positions for the last two innings. Dick Coffman, who relieved Clyde (Slick) Castelman in the box, was knocked out in the ninth in the farewell salute.

Thirteen Yankees went to bat in the concluding frame, within two of the world series record. The rookie star, DiMaggio, got two of the five basehits that punctuated the firm off the combined pitching efforts of Coffman and his successor, Harry Gumbert, both right-handers. Gumbert, victim of the six-run drive by the Yankees in the ninth inning of the second game, came in with two on, none out, and three runs already in. He finally retired the side, after four more tallies rattled over the plate.

Three bases on balls, together with an error by catcher Harry Danning on a dropped throw as DiMaggio charged for the plate, contributed to the record run-making spurge of the new world champions in their last turn at bat. Their final total equalled the old record which they had displaced with an 18-4 rout of the Giants in the second game.

All told, at least a dozen world series records were broken or equalled by today's finale. The Yankees displaced a flock of marks for a six-game series in the offensive department. Their aggregate totals of 43 runs and 41 batted in, 65 hits and 49 of the one base variety, 26 bases on balls and 96 total bases, all established new records.

The attendance at the Polo grounds for the sixth game was the smallest of the series, with 38,427 cash customers contributing to gate receipts of $169,213, but they were big enough to create new six-game records in both departments of calculation.

The total attendance of 302,924 displaced the precious six-game mark of 301,430, set by the Yankees and Giants in their last intra-city battle, in 1923. The aggregate receipts of $1,204,339, topped the previous six-game mark of $1,073,894, set by the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs last year, and were the second highest in all series history.

The club managed by Marce Joe McCarthy got a good share of the "breaks" in a series that was exciting but not particularly well-played. They won chiefly on their predominant hitting power, at the expense of the best pitching their opposition could produce.

The renowned Carl Hubbell, as well as Hal Schumacher and Fred Fitzsimmons, the "big three" of Bill Terry's staff, took turns being belted by the "Bronx bombers." Hubbell and Schumacher each managed to win but at the finish, the Giants' flingers all looked pretty much alike to the blasting brigade from the other side of the Harlem river.

Gomez, although he didn't go the route, gained his second pitching triumph of the series as his mates put the final crusher on their rivals, while Fitzsimmons was charged with his second defeat.

While the two heaviest guns in the Yankee batting order, Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey, got only one hit for their combined efforts this afternoon, the rest of the lineup gave the Giants' hurlers a brisk massaging. DiMaggio, Red Rolfe, Jake Powell and Tony Lazzeri each contributed three hits to the Yankee total of 17 safeties. Selkirk's triple and Powell's home run, both hit off Fitzsimmons in the second inning, were the only extra-base wallopers but the attack of the American League champions was always a menace, from top to bottom of the list.

It was typical of the Yankee attack that it was never long under control at any given point in the lineup. There was rarely a spot where any pitcher for the Giants could afford not to bear down. Any time they did ease it they generally looked around to see a ball leaving the park.

The total of seven homers for the Yankees, two each by Selkirk and Captain Gehrig, was two short of their own record, while the aggregate of 11 for the series, by both clubs, was one shy of the mark of 12 set by the Washington and Pittsburgh clubs in the seven-game series of 1925.

Mel Ott, the Giants' cleanup hitter, emerged from his slump to slam out a double as well as his first homer of the series, driving in three of his team's five markers. His circuit clout, as well as Joe Moore's, in the eighth, both had the misfortune to come with the bases empty.

The Giants started out briskly with a two-run spurt in the first inning off Gomez. Moore singled, Bartell walked and Terry sacrificed both base-runners. Big Hank Leiber, back in center, belted instead of Jimmy Rippe, passed to fill the bases. Ott doubled down the right-field line, scoring Moore and Bartell, but Mancuso and Whitehead both failed in the pinch where a single would have produced two more runs.

It was typical of weakness in the lower side of the Giants' batting order, as a consequence of which ten base-runners were stranded during the afternoon.

Fitz retired the first five batsmen. He looked to have the same effective control he showed in his first start last Saturday, but the long range guns boomed suddenly to upset his advantageous start.

Selkirk's triple and Powell's homer tied the score, with two out, in the second. The Yankees forced to the front in the third when Rolfe singled, ran to third on DiMaggio's basehit to left and scored easily on Gehrig's towering drive to Ott.

Travis Jackson's limited fielding range off third base seemed costly in the fourth but Fitz got himself into enough trouble anyway to cause his downfall.

With one out Powell beat out a hit to deep short and Lazzeri punched the ball past Jackson's outstretched glove for another single. Gomez then boosted his already swollen series batting record by driving a clean single to left, scoring Powell. Crossetti flied out but Rolfe's base-smash to left center scored Lazzeri and ended Fitz' work for the day.

Fitzsimmons yielded five runs and nine hits, twice as many as he allowed in losing last Saturday's game, before turning over the mound to Cleveland Castelman. The young right-hander quickly subdued the Yankee attack, retiring 10 of the 11 men he faced, yielding only one hit, and striking out the side in the sixth. Powell, Lazzeri and Gomez were his strike-out victims in that frame.

Ott's fifth inning homer, which he pushed into the left-field upper deck, whittled the Yankee margin. Twice thereafter, in the critical seventh and again on Moore's circuit clout in the eighth, the Giants pulled up with one run of their opponents, but that was all.

Castelman was touched for the sixth and what proved to be the deciding run, in the eighth inning. He passed Dickey, who went to second on Selkirk's single and scored on Tony Lazzeri's basehit. The fourth straight pinch-hitter for the Giants, George Davis, failed to do anything damaging as he hit for Castelman in the eighth.

Then came the crowning blowoff. DiMaggio launched the ninth inning attack against Coffman with a single to left. Gehrig sent Joe to third with a basehit to right. Dickey then grounded to Terry and DiMaggio was trapped but the Giants' manager pulled what looked like a "bomber" by throwing to Eddie Mayo at third, instead of to the plate. DiMaggio was nearer home, at the time. He made the break for the plate and was safe when the substitute backstop, Harry Danning, dropped Mayo's relay. Danning was charged with an error but it would have been the closest kind of a play even if he had held the ball.

Selkirk walked to fill the bases, then Powell brought Gehrig and Dickey home with a drive through shortstop Bartell's legs. Gumbert replaced walking Lazzeri. Johnny Murphy, singled to short right, scoring Selkirk and leaving the bases still thickly populated. Crossetti walked, forcing in Powell. Lazzeri scored the sixth run while Rolfe was forcing Crossetti on a hopper to Bartell. DiMaggio's second hit of the inning, a single to left, tallied Murphy.

Gehrig missed a home run by barely three feet on a terrific foul into the right field stands, then walked to fill the bases again. Dickey fanned and Selkirk hoisted to Rippe where all the Yankees needed was a home run with the bases full to beat the all-time series record of ten runs for a single inning, made by the Athletics against the Cubs in 1928.

Homes Repaired For Colder Days

Winter Weather Makes Interiors Important

The interior of a home becomes more important during the Winter due to the enforced longer hours that the family must spend indoors. Part of a job of "modernizing for Winter" might well include the building of a recreation room in the basement or attic.

Other things that make a home more cheerful during the drab Winter months are bright new wallpaper, freshly painted woodwork, an additional window to let in more light, extra electrical outlets, and more attractive lighting fixtures.

Where there are small children and a good southern exposure, the installation of special glass that will admit ultra-violet rays from the sun, or a large additional window with such glass, is a good investment. Ordinary window glass excludes the beneficial ultra-violet rays. A sun bath in the warmth of the children's nursery is an inexpensive way of combating some of the vitamin starvation of gray Winter days. Expenditures for such windows are eligible for a modernization loan.

HOME INSULATION WORTH WHILE IN WINTER, SUMMER

The comfort afforded by well-planned home insulation is well worth its expense. During cold weather heat is conserved, while Summer heat is also minimized through this means.

However, no amount of insulation will make a poorly constructed house comfortable either in Winter or Summer. For instance, it will not be a substitute for loose windows or doors or leaks around them in a draughty old house; nor will it offer protection against hot weather if proper ventilation of attic space is lacking.

Competent workmanship and expert advice are necessary in the installation of insulation just as they are in the building of an entire home, if it is to perform its intended function.

USE FOR GLASS

Glass is rapidly gaining in importance in modern decoration. The use of large mirrors to reflect a room and increase its apparent size is a trick that has long been known to decorators.

A New York apartment has an entire wall of glass panels, which makes the room seem larger and pleasanter.

INSURE AGAINST CRACKS

To insure against small cracks in the plaster of the walls and ceilings showing up and spoiling the new paint job, the use of decorators' canvas as a base for the paint is effective.

For Safe, Healthful Play

Attic rooms or spare bedrooms lend themselves readily to conversion into charming playrooms, as is illustrated by the above photograph. A wide variety of modern floor coverings, built-in shelves, bookcases, desks, etc., may add to the comfort of such a room. The appointments that help to provide recreation for young children may be added to suit the individual taste. Such a room is ideal for everyday play and especially as a haven during inclement weather.

FIREPLACE CUPBOARDS

In old New England homes cupboards were an essential part of the house. A novel arrangement was a cupboard with glass doors over the fireplace. This provides an excellent place for a collection of colored glass or china.

Cupboards are a welcome addition to the modern home also.

PLASTER SAFEGUARD

To avoid the cracking of the plaster or the opening of the joint where the tile meets the bathtub, a steel angle should be screwed to the studs to support the weight of the tub. If it rests on the floor joists or on a wooden strip, the shrinkage of the wood may be enough to open the joint.

EXPOSED CELLAR UNDESIRABLE IN AVERAGE HOME

Most suburbs, and even cities, suffer from overexposure of the cellar. When we see a house built low on the ground it seems more pleasing to the eye. The reason is plain. The phrase "a long, low, rambling house" is typical of the ideal of most people in the way of architecture. Yet knowing this we still persist in placing houses two or three feet out of the ground. The reasons are practical ones, and, unfortunately, they are more potent than esthetic appeal. Deep excavation costs more, and the deeper we go the more likely is the need of waterproofing, which also adds cost; furthermore, in many streets the sewers are not laid deep enough in the ground to allow proper drainage from cellar fixtures. Skillful grading can overcome the stilted effect to a large degree, although it should not take the form of sharp terraces that look too artificial. The slope should be as gradual as possible and should extend well away from the house.

Should the present trend toward cellarless houses become more powerful, we can all have nice low houses with a minimum of grading.

CELLAR TRUNK ROOM

A trunk room in the cellar solves many a problem when a trip looms unexpectedly. A small dry space is all that is necessary. It should be completely enclosed to prevent dust and ashes from settling in the bags. Shelves may be built to hold small bags and a platform raised from the floor for the trunks and larger pieces.

Railroads Object To Tax Levy; Get Hearing in Court

County Judge W.E. Thomson Hears Objections; Decision to Be Made Soon

Objections of the Chicago and Alton, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and the Wabash railway companies to taxes levied in 1935, collectable in 1936, were heard Tuesday morning by Judge William E. Thomson in county court here. The court took the matter under advisement until he has an opportunity to draw up an order stating his decision.

The objections have been filed each year by the railway companies. Objections this year were filed on the grounds that some of the school districts have asked for more money than they need, and also against the poor relief, mother's pension, and blind pension levies.

The objections were filed by the railway companies in order to prevent the sheriff from offering their properties for sale along with other tax delinquent properties.

The sheriff will not take any action on the properties, taxes upon which are delinquent, until the court hands down a decision.

William T. Wilson represented the railroad companies, and State's Attorney Wilford Absher represented the county.

Illinois College had its objections to tax assessments levied on the former Andrew Russell property sustained. The county agreed last year not to levy tax on this property, which is exempt because it is being used for educational purposes, but the assessment against the property was made again this year through an error.

INDIANS NOT TO LET BROWDER SPEAK

Terre Haute, Ind.—(P)—Mayor Sam Breecher and Police Chief James C. Yates indicated today they would not permit Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president, to speak at a rally here Oct. 19.

The city officials caused the arrest of Browder and four associates on vagrancy charges here Sept. 30, when the candidate came to address a meeting. The Communists were released 26 hours later.

According to word received from New York, the Communist national campaign committee, in cooperation with the Civil Liberties Union, has started to make arrangements for Browder's appearance here Oct. 19.

Roosevelt Prepares Excessive Drinking For Final Campaign Turns Nation Into West; Works at Desk Abattoir, Is Claim

Receives Assurances of Success at Polls from Several Big Leaders

Washington.—(P)—Settling himself at the White House for a four day stay, President Roosevelt today tackled a mass of state business and gave thought to the final details of a campaign dash into the west starting next week-end.

The president brought back with him from Hyde Park, N. Y., where he spent an extended week-end, a statement by William Green that both organized and unorganized labor was "90 per cent for him."

At a conference at his Hudson river estate yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt heard from Green also that union leaders had given signs of increased willingness to smooth out their tangles over industrial as against craft organization of workers.

Another caller, Frank Murphy, Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, told him that he had a good chance to win that state's 19 electoral votes.

Murphy said the trip, starting from Washington Friday afternoon, would include major night speeches at Chicago, Oct. 14 and Detroit, Oct. 15, probably with appearances at Grand Rapids and Flint, Mich., enroute to Detroit.

Green told newspapermen his personal contacts and study of reports from the field showed labor was 90 per cent for Roosevelt "throughout the country; that is, both organized and unorganized labor."

Estimating labor's voting strength at around 8,000,000, he said the pro-Roosevelt sentiment was reflected in labor meetings, in resolutions thus far adopted by 26 state federations, and in endorsements of certain national and international unions.

The initiatory degree was conferred on Wilber DeFries, Forrest DeVore, Byron Rhoades and Jesse Garner. Wesley T. Smith was re-instated. Elbert Brasel and Jewell Scott were in charge of the degree team.

Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed at the close.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 4.

The Golden Text was, "Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity" (Ecclesiastes 1:2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ye shall observe to do therefore as the Lord your God hath commanded you: ye shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left. Ye shall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye shall possess" (Deuteronomy 5:32, 33).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is not a pendulum, swinging between evil and good, joy and sorrow, sickness and health, life and death. Life and its faculties are not measured by calendars. Life is eternal. We should find this out, and begin the demonstration thereof. Life and goodness are immortal" (p. 246).

Bishop Cites Death, Injury, Damage Due to Excessive Use of Liquor

Chicago.—Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal church declared today that "intemperate use of liquor is turning this nation into a slaughter house."

"The number of automobile accidents causing death, injury and damage in which drunken drivers figure is appalling," he said.

"Recently my own car was scraped by a machine driven by a fellow so intoxicated he didn't know what direction he was traveling yet who, when he sobered up, turned out to be a very decent fellow."

"Promises and prophecies about how this nation could handle its liquor temperately have not been fulfilled. Neither have promises that the saloon evils would not return."

"On that subject I give you Chicago, with its hundreds of barmains and what they call hostesses. Never in the olden days did we have a situation so fraught with evil possibilities as this post-war development."

The bishop spoke in an interview before the opening here of his church's 97th annual Rock River conference which he said would "take a position" on the temperance question.

Bishop Waldorf said the session, opening here tonight, would effect more changes in pastorates than at any time in 25 years.

A dozen deaths and six retirements contributed to what he described as a revision of ministerial appointments "so extensive we won't know ourselves."

Appointments in the conference, comprising the northern third of Illinois and including some 350 ministers, are scheduled to be read by the bishop Sunday night at the close of the conference at the Austin church.

Unification of the church with the Methodist Episcopal church South and the Methodist Protestant church is a subject of conference discussion, with a vote due Thursday. Bishop Waldorf said. Some 40 annual conferences in the nation have voted overwhelmingly for unification of the church groups split nearly 100 years ago, he said. One hundred conferences are voting this year, affecting some 8,000,000 communicants.

Depositors Slow To Get Dividend Checks

Only $20,000 Paid Out On First Day By Receiver; Five Windows Open

Although it has been nearly two years since Ayers National bank depositors received a dividend, there was no perceptible rush when payment of a five per cent dividend started Monday in charge of the receiver. About $20,000 in checks was paid out Monday, and slightly more than that amount was issued yesterday to depositors.

Nelson Greene, receiver, said the employees at his office can accommodate many more callers, and urges depositors to get their checks while extra help is available.

Five windows are open for the accommodation of depositors, the windows being numbered. Depositors should call at the window numbered according to their depositor's slip.

The five per cent dividend totals $170,000 and will be split up among 6,000 persons who had accounts at the bank when it closed in the fall of 1932.

Clarence Neighbors was included in the number of visitors in the city yesterday from Murrayville.

Dorothy Taylor was in the city yesterday from Woodson.

A. Smith was here yesterday from Strawn's Crossing.

Government Probes Identical Bidding On Work Contracts

Claim Hundreds Of Cases Appearing; Check To See If Collusion Exists

Washington.—(P)—Justice department officials said today they were investigating "hundreds and hundreds" of cases in which firms, seeking government contracts for supplying construction material, submitted identical bids.

How many of the bids could be termed "collusive" officials declined to say pending completion of investigation.

Responsibility for inquiring into bids which might be collusive rests with the justice department's anti-trust division, headed by Assistant Attorney General John Dickinson. He has assigned two attorneys to full-time work on the inquiry and three others, with several clerical assistants, to part-time work.

In some instances, as in a recent case of identical steel bids, officials have gone into the field to examine company books. The remainder of the work is done here. Every effort has been made, a spokesman for the department said today, "to be cooperative."

"Our investigations are simply fact-finding. We are not doing detective work," he said.

President Roosevelt suggested last June 20 that if federal agencies received identical bids they should be turned over to the department of justice for investigation. The suggestion, made to the ten regular departments and to approximately 12 independent offices, brought a flood of reports to Dickinson's office.

Officials said today there were "great masses" of reports on identical bids for almost every type of construction material needed by the government.

All of the officers were from Springfield.

Traffic Accidents To Kill 700 More Persons This Year

Springfield, Ill.—(P)—Approximately 700 more persons will lose their lives in Illinois traffic accidents before the end of the year if the trend in previous years is followed, Public Health Director Frank Jirka predicted today.

Asserting that the worst time of the year for highway and street mishaps is approaching, Jirka said fatalities this year are running nearly parallel with those in 1935, when nearly a 200 increase was recorded in the last three months over the other three quarters.

The director said that tests given 4,271 persons at the Illinois State Fair last August indicated that many were not physiologically able to maneuver automobiles at high speeds under emergency conditions with the "split-second skillfulness" needed to prevent accidents.

Poor visibility, inclement weather, greater business activity, and driving with closed windows were declared by Jirka to increase the liability of accidents.

At the same time, Jirka said 70 new cases of infantile paralysis in Illinois were recorded during the past week from 21 counties to continue the "highest prevalence level in the state since 1917." However, he declared that the numerical chance of any particular child contracting the disease this year was about one in 5,000.

Scarlet fever, with 122 new cases, and pneumonia, with 130, were reported as increasing sharply during the past week, while typhoid fever and diphtheria gained slightly but were declared to be running much lower than usual. Whooping cough was reported as declining noticeably.

Caldwell to Build Lake at Rushville

Board of Aldermen Awards Contract to Local Firm; Springs Give Out

The Caldwell Engineering company of this city was awarded the contract Monday night for supervising construction of a new lake at Rushville, to furnish a water supply for the town. Rushville has always secured its water supply from springs, which proved inadequate during the drought last summer, resulting in a decision of the board of aldermen to build a lake.

The project will be financed in part by WPA funds, and $44,000 in bonds which have been sold through Duker & Duker, Quincy bond house. The contractor for the work has not yet been selected.

Rushville's new lake will be constructed south of the town.

65 Skilled Drivers Inspect Farm Homes For Fire Hazards

Scope of Safety Work Broadened by Members During Prevention Week

The Skilled Drivers' Club of the Morgan County Farm Bureau, enlarging the scope of its safety efforts, is making fire hazard inspections in farm homes during National Fire Prevention Week, October 4 to 10. That these efforts are well worth while is quickly seen when it is realized that $100,000,000 is lost annually in farm fires in the United States. Of this appalling total about 40%, or $40,000,000, occurs in farm dwellings, the remainder, $60,000,000, in farm property in general, that is, in barns and other outbuildings.

The principal causes of these fires have been listed in the order of their importance as follows:

Defective chimneys and flues.

Lightning.

Sparks on the roof.

Gasoline and petroleum products.

Hot ashes and coals, and open fires.

Other causes, listed as miscellaneous, may be traced to lights, and lightning systems, power machinery, incubators and brooders, bonfires and burning rubbish, and defective electric wiring.

Home farm fires are most commonly caused by defective flues and chimneys; sparks on the roof; gas and oil fires; stoves, furnaces and their pipes; hot ashes and coals. While in farm barns and other outbuildings, lightning is the principal cause of fire, closely followed by spontaneous ignition, originating in hay, grain and manure.

In addition to the $100,000,000 farm fire loss, are the 3000 to 4500 lives lost yearly. If agriculture can little afford the money loss, how much less it can afford the appalling loss of lives.

Every hour of the day and night throughout the year, somewhere, a farm fire is in progress. Each fire is an element of tragedy for one farm family, and collectively they touch the entire farming industry.

Each member of the Skilled Drivers' Club will inspect five farm homes in his community during the week, with a view to finding and eliminating fire hazards. There are 65 members of the club, which will mean that more than 300 homes in the county will receive inspection.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DIAN, pretty airplane stewardess, falls in love with TED, a radio operator who flies the trans-Pacific route.

Ted has two interests in life—Job and DICKIE, his adopted son, 7 years old. When Ted asks Kay to marry him, she fears it is merely to make a home for Dickie, but she agrees.

She does not agree, though, with Ted's theories that marriage, to be successful, must be planned scientifically, just as a plane flight. She is rebellious because he insists her housekeeping must be carried on in the same way, with charts and budgets.

Kay gives a merry and Ted, tired and weary, refuse to join the guests. To punish him, Kay impulsively boards the plane for Honolulu next morning.

In Honolulu she learns there is an outbreak of spinal meningitis at Midway, and Ted is piloting a plane bringing serum. Ted agrees, takes off again shortly. Without making her presence known, Kay boards the ship. Illah, Oriental dancer, also is a passenger.

A violent storm breaks but there is no serious difficulty until the direction finder fails to work. Kay, Ted and the navigation officer are in the chart room when Illah enters. Pictorial in hand, she demands the plans of Ted's navigation, the gyrocompass.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

ILLAH advanced menacingly toward the two ship's officers, pistol in hand. "Go into the cockpit," she ordered, and Ted and the navigation officer moved backward, followed by Kay.

Illah brandished the automatic in the radio officer's face. She gave a call number. "Get in contact with that station immediately," she said. "It's a pearly schooner, anchored at Wake Island."

The radio officer sat down and tapped out the call on the sending set. After a moment he said, "They don't answer."

"You lie!"

The radio officer protested. "But I tell you they don't answer. Since you know the position of the ship, though, I can broadcast the message on the wave-length. They'll get it."

Illah smiled. "That is good. That is fate. Send the message at once."

When he had finished, Illah shrugged her shoulders. "I die," she said, "knowing my work is well done. I am a mystic. I am not afraid."

Slowly she gathered her white veils about her and walked back into the passenger compartment.

TED returned to the chart room and sent Kay into the passenger compartment to reassure the women. The storm had not abated.

He scanned the message. "NO

A.T.A. Members are Pledged to Aid In Capturing Thieves

Preamble Sets Out Purposes Of Organization; Recall Early History

WHEREAS: We the citizens of the several states comprising the National Order of the Anti-Thief Association, for the protection of ourselves against the depredations of thieves, robbers, incendiaries, vagrants and all other criminals, do hereby pledge ourselves to cooperate with civil authorities in apprehending and bringing to justice all such offenders and aiding each other in recovery of stolen property. And further pledge ourselves that we will do what we can to aid and uphold all civil organizations that have for their purpose the up-building and betterment of the country. And that we will do all that we can to educate the citizenship of our community to love for flag, patriotism and charity to the needy and do all of our own order.

The A.T.A. was formerly known as the Anti-Horse Thief Association and was organized as the A.H.T.A. at Lury, Mo. in 1854.

Back in 1854 the state of Illinois was a frontier with very little chance for organized society or law enforcement. The west tier of Missouri counties was little if any better and organized bands of outlaws were raiding farms of both Illinois and Missouri, stealing horses pretty frequently.

A horse was about the most usual animal a frontier farmer could own and in many cases the loss of a horse meant hardship and even want to the hardy pioneer who was developing the prairie country into farming land. To lose his team was to tender the hard working man helpless.

So when the few officers of the law were unable to cope with the thieving bands who defied the law, the people of the prairie country decided to band themselves into an organization to combat the outlaws. There are stories (no doubt overdrawn) of the early lodges of the A.H.T.A. who brought back the stolen horses but not the thieves. But from the start the organization was strong for law and order and believed in protecting the innocent and punishing the guilty in the regular lawful way. They were not a masked band nor a secret order but they had a system of having riders spread the news of the theft of a horse or other stock from one community to another and the men with fresh relays of horses and riders who knew the country, they were successful in running down horse thieves.

Several years ago the organization decided that the need of a band to capture horse thieves was past and they reorganized as an order to protect citizens from every kind of thief and all violators of the laws in the country.

Thruout the whole central and southwest they now have lodges and active members who know the telephone number of other members and of the officers of the law and who cooperate with the officers in apprehending any kind of law violators and turn out in numbers to catch bank robbers, holdup men, stock, car and chicken thieves. Their work is without pay and the sole idea of making their community a better place for honest men and women to reside. Crimes against women always bring out the members to help officers capture the criminal.

Any outlaws and murderers have had reason to fear the activities of these bands of law enforcing citizens who do not conceal their identity and work in the open and with the assistance of the law.

They do not assist in seeking out the little bootlegger, but do stand for the capture and punishment of the open violator of the law who commercializes the liquor traffic or any form of vice.

Their idea is to make the order such that the man who wears the emblem of their order will be known as a law abiding citizen who stands for the best interests of their community.

Most of the plant life of Spitzbergen was carried there in seed form, from the Scandinavian peninsula, by birds.

France has 800 manufacturers of agricultural implements, or about twice as many as before the World War.

What The A. T. A. Is And What It Is Not

HUMANITY, JUSTICE, CHARITY.

"Protect the Innocent: Bring the Guilty to Justice."

The Anti-Thief Association is the largest and least expensive organization of its kind in the world. It is composed of law abiding citizens, banded together for mutual benefit and protection. To protect the innocent and bring the guilty to justice.

It protects the Home and all who abide therein.

It protects all property; recovers stolen property and captures the thief, whenever possible.

It aids civil officers in law enforcement.

It is Fraternal, as its members assist each other in sickness and distress.

It is secret so far as is necessary to carry in its work and guard against imposition.

It is Protective, as thieves fear it and shun it.

It is Cheap, having no high salaries or fees.

It is now a Lawless, Vigilance Committee, and is opposed to mob violence in any form.

It is Non-political, men of all parties belong.

It is Non-sectarian, having no creed of faith.

Any white male citizen over 16 years old of good character may belong. All good men should join it. Bad men are not wanted.

Organization Aids Jerseyville Woman In Recovering Much Tels of Founding Goods During Life Of Illinois Order

Autos, Horses, Chickens and "Bushwhackers" Held in Old Church If Unable To Give Password Through Efforts

By MRS. EMMA NOBLE DODSON
Jerseyville, Illinois

During the time of the Civil War many horses were stolen in Jersey County. It was discovered the thieves were swimming the horses across the river above Grafton into Missouri. People thought the horses were being sold to the Confederate army.

An organization was formed known as the Horse Thief Detective Society, of which my father, William Noble of Otterville, was President.

When it was reported a horse had been stolen, every cross road was guarded as the thieves would try to ride the horse away during the night.

Once a Bushwhacker, (as horse thieves were called) was arrested near Otterville with the stolen horse. He proved to be J. O. Smith of Missouri. He was taken to the Town Hall which was upstairs in the old Hamilton stone school house where he was held until word could be carried to a United States Army Post at Alton. The men who were guarding him put a rope around his neck and strung him up until he almost choked to death, they were trying to make him tell who other members were in his gang, but he would not tell.

The United States soldiers came and took him away on horse back, they let him ride a little ahead, giving him a chance to escape which he tried to do, and the soldiers shot him.

In order to get by the cross roads in the night during the period of time they were being guarded it was necessary to give the password. If any one failed to give the password they were taken to the Cumberland Presbyterian church where they were held until morning at which time they were questioned.

LONDON LAUDS WORK IN LETTER IN 1935

"Rendering Distinct Service" He Says in Letter To Convention

This statement was read to the delegates at the 1935 annual convention of the Kansas association held at Fredonia.

The Kansas Anti-Thief association is rendering the state and its various communities a distinct service. Careful contemplation of crime and the multitude of perplexing problems connected therewith has had a material effect in successfully meeting many of these problems in a Herculean one at best and requires the best study and effort that we can demand.

Organizations like the Kansas Anti-Thief association which dedicate their best efforts to the important task of educating the public in crime prevention are worthy of hearty endorsement and support and it is a pleasure to extend official and personal greetings to this conference.

—Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas.

Hold National and State Conventions Of A. T. A. in City

Members of the Anti-Thief Association from a number of midwestern states are in Jacksonville for their annual state and national sessions. Between 400 and 500 men will attend the various sessions of the two conventions.

The national convention opened Monday, Oct. 5, closing Tuesday. It is to be followed by the state convocation on Wednesday and Thursday. Headquarters are at the Dunlap hotel, with business sessions in the circuit court room at the court house.

Delegates to the two conventions include men from Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Iowa. This is the second time in the history of the A.T.A., that both conventions have been held in Jacksonville.

A banquet for national delegates was held at the Dunlap hotel. On Wednesday night a state convention meeting will be held in the high school auditorium, which is open to the public.

Dinner for state delegates will be served each day at Grace Methodist and Central Christian churches.

Jacksonville, the host lodge, has a membership of 300 persons, being the second largest in the country. Virden, Ill., enjoys the distinction of being the largest A.T.A. chapter in the nation.

While in the city the delegates are being entertained with a tour of state institutions and manufacturing plants.

The Anti-Thief Association is an organization of law-abiding people, the most respectable of the country, who have banded themselves together for mutual protection against depredations of thieves, robbers, incendiaries, vagrants, and all other criminals, pledging themselves to cooperate with civil authorities in apprehending and bringing to justice all such offenders and aiding each other in the recovery of stolen property. And further pledge ourselves that we will do what we can to aid and uphold all civil organizations that have for their purpose the up-building and betterment of the country. And that we will do all that we can to educate the citizenship of our community to the love for the flag, patriotism, and charity to the needy and to all members of our own order.

The first lodge was organized near Lury, Clark county, Missouri, by Major David McKen in 1854. It now has orders in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and some other states.

It is a fraternal order, operating very much on the same plan as the well-known fraternal orders, except it has different objects in view.

It is both a detective and a protective order. If property be stolen from any member, the order seeks to recover the property and capture the thief. It protects the property of its members by showing those who are prone to commit crime that it "lets no guilty man escape." Its motto is, "Protect the innocent; bring the guilty to justice."

It is a patriotic organization, for it permits none but law-abiding men to become members and it labors to uphold the law of the land.

It is a co-operative organization. The members are obliged to assist each other in the protection of each other's property and home and to assist in recovering the property if stolen.

It is a secret organization, but secret only in so far as it is necessary to carry on its work. The very nature of its work requires secrecy. The members have secret ways of knowing each other to prevent being imposed upon.

It is not like old-time vigilance committees or regulators. It employs no illegal or white cap methods in carrying out its work. It does not violate one law to uphold another. It opposes mob violence and will expel any member who takes part in a mob.

It is not a political organization. It permits members of all political organizations to become members and it takes no part in political campaigns or elections.

It is not a religious organization. No religious test is required of its members. It has no connection whatever with any religious denomination, sect, or creed, and its membership is composed of men who belong to most all denominations. On the other hand, the order has the approval of many religious societies and many ministers have joined its ranks.

It is an officers' aid society. It works in harmony with sheriffs and police officers in the capture of criminals, and if any member of the order captures a criminal he turns

National President 1936

SYDNEY M. HOLBEN
Edinburg, Ill.

Sydney Holben, of Edinburg, Ill., who is serving as national president, has been secretary of the state organization for more than a quarter of a century.

Mr. Holben attends practically every national and state convention and has been one of the most active "ants" in the country.

During the years Mr. Holben has been secretary of the organization, the membership has grown steadily. During the depression the organization lost hundreds of members, but Mr. Holben has started a campaign to have old members reinstate and several new members have been received into the organization.

More than 50 new members will be initiated into the Jacksonville sub-order during the state convention.

him over to an officer of the law at the first opportunity.

It protects all kinds of property as well as horses. It also protects the persons of its members and their families against personal violence. Property, etc., of members, only, is under the protection of the order, except by special agreement.

The A.T.A. is a public benefactor. Its work in suppressing crime and criminals is a public benefit. A thief in jail can steal from no one. Communities in which active A.T.A. lodges exist are shunned by thieves because they know each member serves as a detective and the chances of escaping with stolen property are better elsewhere. The order is therefore entitled to the moral support of all good people.

The A.T.A. is chartered under the laws of most of the states in which it operates. It is thereby recognized by the lawful authorities and its work has often been complimented by judges from the bench.

It teaches patriotism and greater respect for law of its own members and makes them better citizens. The very nature of its work does that.

The primary object of law is protection. That is the identical object of the A.T.A.

This order has done more to run thieves, thugs, and bad characters out of the country than all other organizations, including state officers.

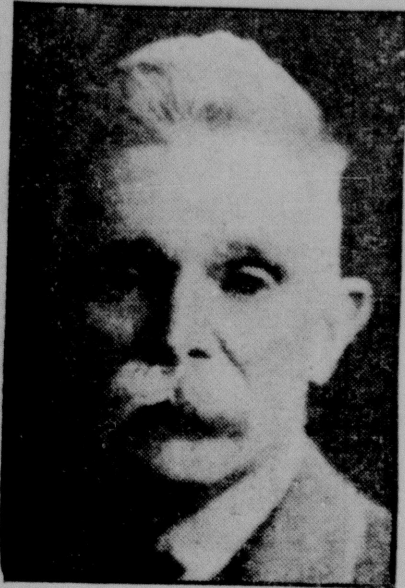

Any white man of good character and a citizen of the U.S. 18 years of age or older may become a member of the A.T.A. Widows and other women owning property may obtain the protection of the order by proper application.

Retired Head Of Local Unit Tells Of Early Exploits

Three National Presidents Have Been Produced By Local Group

A. C. Reid, who resides three miles north of Jacksonville, served the A.T.A. organization as president for more than 32 years. He also served as vice-president for four years prior to taking the office of president.

A. C. REID

Mr Reid was head of the organization before the automobile was in general use. There was no system of hard roads at that time, and a majority of the farmers were using horse and buggy.

In an interview with a Journal and Courier reporter recently Mr. Reid recalled how the organization worked more than a quarter of a century ago.

When Mr. Reid first took over the duties of president of the A.T.A. there were 24 constables appointed by the A.T.A. president to act as a law enforcement organization. These constables were given commissions and were permitted to make arrests.

When a thief stole a horse or other property from an "Anti," the owner of the property would notify the president of the order. The president would immediately notify the marshal of the A.T.A., giving him full instructions now each constable was to proceed. The constables were ordered out any time of the day or night. Each man was given a certain territory to search and if he picked up the trail of the thief it was his orders to keep on the trail until the thief had been captured.

Mr Reid recalls that on several occasions the pursuing constable would go as far as the State of Missouri and usually brought back his man. Some of the constables would be in the field for six or seven days.

Mr. Reid said that when property was stolen from a member of the order it was customary to offer a reward for the capture of the thief and the return of the property. The A.T.A. always paid these rewards and had the reputation of dealing squarely with all persons who assisted it in running down thieves.

So many thieves were captured and sent to the penitentiary that stealing from members of the A.T.A. was almost eliminated.

Mr. Reid also recalled that constables often trailed a thief because of a peculiarity in the horse's hoof on the stolen horse, which left the imprint in the dirt along the roads. The constables many times went many miles, finally capturing the thief.

Mr. Reid served as president of the local sub-order longer than any of its presidents. Other presidents of the local sub-order, which was organized in 1875, follow: W. H. Rowe, James Z. Scott, J. A. Moss, John Boston, Stansfield Baldwin, A. D. Arnold, William Patterson, Sam Garrett, who was the first president, James Self and L. Clyde Cooper, the present head of the organization.

Among those who have served as financial secretary are Peter Richardson, James Reid, Charles Degen, William Batz, Charles S. Black, John Long, and Charles Boston.

Among the recording secretaries were John Clary, who served twenty years, Clyde Black, Charles S. Black, and John W. Lazenby who has served for many years and now holds that office.

Charles Rowe, N. T. Fox, and Charles S. Black were among the members of the local sub-order to serve as national president.

The following members of the local sub-order have served as state president: W. H. Rowe, Charles A. Rowe, and Charles S. Black. Charles McClure was state secretary for eleven years.

L. Clyde Cooper is the present marshal of the state organization.

The local sub-order now has a membership of 300 and is steadily growing. Before the depression the organization had more than 600 on its rolls and was the largest sub-order in the country.

HORSESHOE EMBLEM OF ORGANIZATION

Is More Than Symbol Of Good Luck; Teach
Many Things

The Horseshoe is the emblem of the Anti-Thief Association.

The A.T.A. is the only Order using the Horseshoe as its emblem.

The Horseshoe reminds us of Major David McKee, the illustrious founder of the Order.

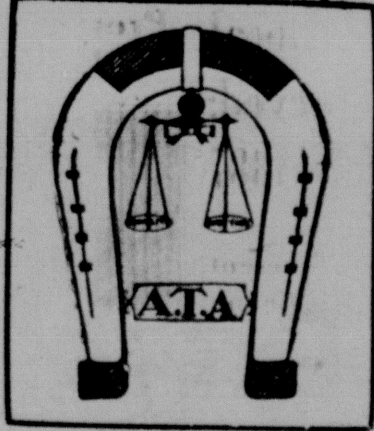

We teach that "the horseshoe is an emblem of good luck."

It is more than that.

The Horseshoe is the emblem that symbolizes the teachings and principles of this Order.

The Horseshoe reminds us of the conditions that caused The Anti-Thief Association, our parent Order to come into existence.

The Horseshoe stands for a great national law and order movement, that has been since 1854 a mighty force in the middlewest.

The Horseshoe reminds of the faithful and courageous service that thousands of our Brothers have rendered the cause of good government.

The Horseshoe reminds us of our obligations one to another.

The Horseshoe reminds us of our duty to the weak and erring.

The Horseshoe stands for "Humanity, Charity and Justice."

The Horseshoe reminds us of the motto of the Order to "Protect the innocent and bring the guilty to justice."

The Horseshoe stands for honor and integrity among a brotherhood of men.

The Horseshoe reminds us of the rule of conduct: "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you," which was given to the world by that Great Teacher of Brotherhood.

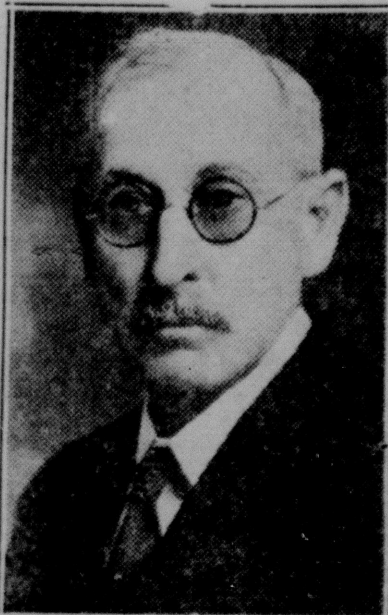

The Horseshoe reminds us of an Order that is distinctly American in teaching, principle and practice; of an Order whose members are loyal and obedient citizens; and who at all times co-operate with the civil officers in the performance of their duties.

Therefore, Brethren, we ought at all times keep this emblem before the members of the Order and the world.

Let's strive to live up to its ideals, and seek to exemplify it in our activities; for in so doing we will be the means of making the Order of greater worth to our community, state and nation.

Platinum can be rolled and beaten into leaf one two-hundred-thousandths of an inch thick.

PERSHING TELLS WHY OF A. T. A. PROGRAM

Defends Organization Of Neighbors to Prevent Depredations

"Why should we not form neighborhood and community committees, so that the gang will find itself confronted with an organized body of men larger and stronger than itself? Suppose a neighbor of yours gets a kidnaping threat, or a merchant is visited by a gangster who tries to extort tribute from him or a section of the town experiences a series of hold-ups. If the individual citizen goes to the police station or city hall and fails to get satisfaction, he is powerless. But if the neighborhood committee stands ready, at the very first threat of gangster activity within its borders, to take common action against the invasion, the picture changes. . . . Representing the militant citizenship of this community, it could demand positive action by the police and by civil authorities.

"Committees of this kind would be vigilance committees, not in the old sense, but in the sense that they would be ever vigilant in the protection of rights and the performance of civic duties.

"I WOULD CONSIDER IT AN HONOR TO SERVE ON SUCH A COMMITTEE MYSELF."

—General John J. Pershing.

Winding up the CAMEL EXPERIMENT that DROVE the WILD WEST CRAZY

By Oren Arnold

THE strangest—and funniest—idea ever conceived by the United States War Department is now officially ended.

Jefferson Davis, secretary of war, conceived it in 1856. He never could be particularly proud of it, and it became a political boomerang. But citizens away out in the wild southwest didn't hold it against him. It was 400 descendants of those citizens, gathered recently at an isolated desert spot in western Arizona, who brought the strange experiment to official close. Headed by Dr. D. B. Moeur, Arizona's governor, the 400 stood around a rock pyramid and prayed, "God rest the bones of Hadji Ali."

First news of the War Department's experiment broke with an emotional

These Texas cattle had never before seen or smelled so extraordinary a thing as a camel. Wherefore, of one accord they snorted, bellowed and ran.

"What'll I do with him, though?" Joe demanded of his friends. "Well, will he give milk?" somebody inquired. Joe glared at the insult. "Can he sing?" another jeered.

making smooth progress one morning when a caravan of long-necked, hump-backed, evil-smelling Arabian camels cut into the steers!

Hell itself broke loose. If you have never been a rancher, you can't possibly realize what pandemonium a great herd of terrified steers can create.

These Texas cattle had never before seen or smelled so extraordinary a thing as a camel. Wherefore, of one accord they snorted, bellowed, and ran.

It is said that more than a fourth of the steers ran themselves to death, and that fully half the cowboys swore off liquor forever. The stampede lasted two days. By the time the remaining cattle were herded and calmed again, the camels had quietly plump-plumped their big, ungainly hooves across nearly 100 miles of Texas prairie, headed steadily toward the upper Rio Grande.

One hundred miles in two days. That salient fact had been known to Jefferson Davis. That is, the astute secretary of war had learned that camels in Egypt and Arabia could travel almost twice the distance in a day that a mule could travel, and carry three times the load.

Not unreasonably, the honorable secretary decided that camels might well replace the mules as pack animals, in the expansive, dry, sandy desert of the American southwest. Horses, mules and oxen themselves had been imported from Spain three centuries earlier. Why not go a step further and bring in camels?

In due course, Congress appropriated the necessary money, and Lieut. David Porter, U. S. N., sailed to Smyrna to buy 34 camels, and to hire drivers who knew how to control them.

They were loaded on the U. S. S. Supply and sailed for America. En route, Nature took its customary course, and nine additional camels were added to the herd.

They landed at Indianola, Tex., and started westward. New Mexico, Arizona, California and Nevada, where the real American desert is, were to be blessed by the new pack animals, according to government plans. A Mohammedan named Hadji Ali, had mounted the lead camel and started the hump-backed caravan across Texas.

HADJI ALI it was who steered bang into the cattle herd. No doubt Ali was as interested in the cows as the cows were in his camels. Doubtless he never dreamed of causing a stampede.

Doubtless he didn't know what to do when he did cause one, save to keep stolidly on, marching toward his destination, New Mexico.

Thirty-four years later (justice often is very slow) the governor of Arizona and other distinguished citizens bared their heads, praised "Hi Jolly's" (Hadji Ali) loyalty and energy as a pioneer, sang the national anthem, dedicated a fine monument over his grave. The monument bears a copper plaque of suitable inscription, and is topped appropriately by a two-foot statue of a camel. Thus was "finis" written to the life history of Hadji Ali—and to a strange, ill-fated experiment by Uncle Sam.

A second herd of the humped animals was brought to America, soon after the first, but that was all. The traveling began to cripple the poor beasts, and the experiment was closed—a good idea gone on the rocks. The herd of course scattered. Within a decade, wild camels were reported in three or four states, but most frequently in Arizona. The last one was reported seen alive north of Camelback Mountain about 1920.

THE best of true camel lore in the region concerns the late Joseph Poterie of Phoenix, pioneer miner and assayer.

Joe acquired ownership of one of the wild camels when a Mexican boy brought it in to repay Joe for a $10 debt. Joe, sensing that he would never get the $10, took the beast.

"What'll I do with him, though?" Joe demanded of his friends. He and his new camel had attracted quite a throng in front of the Bon Ton saloon.

"Well, will he give milk?" somebody inquired.

"Can he sing?" another jeered. But Joe Poterie was handy with his fists. The jeering soon stopped.

At night, Joe proudly led his camel home and hitched him to the front gate. The odor quickly got around in animal land, and before supper time the horses, cows and mules of five neighbors had leaped or torn through their respective fences, and departed for parts unknown. A committee waited on Joe.

Joe ironed out the drama and flattened his pocketbook at the same time.

That night he personally took the camel out onto the desert and turned the harmless beast loose. It roamed in the Mazatzal Mountains for a decade.

The monument to Hadji Ali, known to the cattle country as Hi Jolly, marking his grave near Quartzite, Ariz.

bang on the southwest in 1857—the year of the Big Stampede. It was the War Department, in fact, which indirectly caused the Big Stampede.

It seems that (this is history, not campfire yarning) 26 Texas cowboys were driving a herd of many thousand longhorn steers from the Gulf Coast country northward toward the markets. Such drives were the usual thing, in those pre-railroad days. The herd was

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO MAJOR DAVID McKEE, FOUNDER OF ORDER

The above is a photograph of the design of the proposed memorial monument to be erected by the Anti-Thief Association at Kahoka, Missouri, to the memory of Major David McKee, founder of the Order. The body of Major McKee and that of his wife are buried at Kahoka.

The monument will be of Missouri red granite. Its base will be 10 feet long, 3 feet wide and 1 foot high. The monument will be 8 feet long, 3 feet high, and 14 inches thick. The letters will be deep sand cut. The foundation on which the stone will rest will be about 6 feet deep.

The cost of the memorial will be about $580, which includes installation.

There will be a small additional expense for promoting the project. At the base of the stone will be cut an opening into which will be placed a steel box containing the history of the memorial, names of the lodges and individuals who have contributed to the project; history of the Order and biographical sketch of Major McKee.

The project was launched at the meeting of the National Order held at Brookfield, Mo., in October, 1933, at the suggestion of Z. B. Myers, Chillicothe, Mo., then president of the Missouri division. Brother Myers was made chairman of the committee. The other members are J. E. Jenkins, Monett, Mo., and C. C. Hawk, Shawnee, Okla. It has been endorsed by every division and the design of the memorial was accepted by the National meetings held in the City of Columbus, Kansas, in October, 1934.

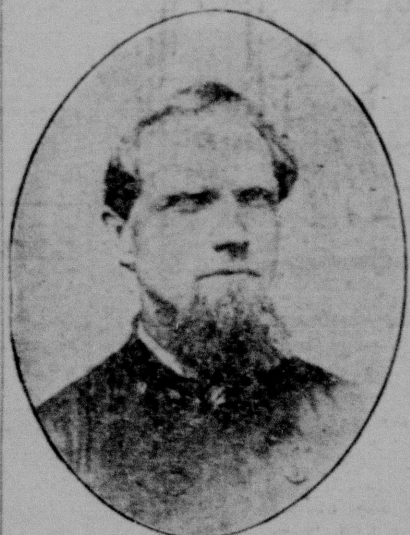

The raising of funds to complete the project is now being pushed in every division.

Some of the divisions are asking that each member contribute 10c to the project, while others are contributing 5c per member.

Every individual who contributes $1 or more will place on the Honor Roll, with the Honor Roll lodges.

All contributors, both individuals and lodges, will be given a certificate for their contribution. These will be sent out after the dedication.

Founder of the Anti-Thief Assn.

MAJOR DAVID McKEE
Founder of Order in 1854

Major David McKee, who founded the Anti-Thief Association in 1854, died in 1896, and is buried at Kahoka, Missouri.

Major McKee and four other men, met at Highland school house in Clark county, Missouri, in October, 1854, and organized the Anti-Horse Thief association. The name was later changed to Anti-Thief association.

The names of only three of the men who assisted Major McKee in organizing the society are known. H. L. McKee, D. L. Hull and H. A. Stewart. The name of the fifth man is unknown because of the movement became so popular that the rapid growth of the order made it uncertain.
